

Growing toward your future

Training vouchers Mushrooms

Now available for employees in the mushroom sector: training vouchers! With a training voucher, you will receive financial compensation for a course or training you would like to follow in addition to your regular work. A great opportunity to grow and develop so you can be employed in a wider range of jobs!

Why a 'wider range'?

Having a wider range of employable skills means that besides the work you do now, you can also do other work. You can broaden your employability by gaining new knowledge and learning new skills and techniques, or you can focus on a completely different job. If you are widely employable, it is easier for you to work in a variety of positions. That is important, because you want to make sure you always have a job in the future. Those who continue to develop increase their opportunities for employment.

What can you do with a training voucher?

A training voucher has a maximum value of € 1500. This is the budget you can spend on a course that you want to take in addition to your current job. If a course costs less than € 1500, you can spend the remaining amount on another course, if you wish.

You decide for yourself in which field you would like to further develop. The course you choose may be one that allows you to grow further in your current field of work, but it could also teach you a new job or profession.

You may also use the training voucher for a course outside of your field, as long as it is labour-oriented.

What are the benefits?

The training vouchers give you the chance to develop yourself further. The benefits of that are:

- A new challenge is motivating.
- Personal development keeps you young and fit.
- You can gain knowledge and experience in another sector.
- Additional training always looks good on your CV.
- Greater chance of job security in the future.
